PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

SOFTWARE ENGINEER – HCL Technologies | Chennai, India

09/2021 – 01/2025 (3.5 Years)

- Developed and maintained Python-based data pipelines and ETL workflows for enterprise systems, processing and validating large datasets for analytics and reporting — directly applicable to greenhouse gas emission data structuring and model inputs
- Built quantitative models and performed SQL-driven data analysis across PostgreSQL, MySQL, Oracle databases; wrote ad-hoc queries for data validation and schema design — experience translatable to GHG inventory data management and emissions calculation logic
- Collaborated with cross-functional teams to translate complex business logic into clean, structured code using Java Spring Boot and REST APIs; experience bridging non-technical requirements and technical implementation mirrors the role's need to convert agronomic science into model code
- Managed production reliability through monitoring and incident response using Splunk, CloudWatch, Dynatrace — rigorous approach to data accuracy and system integrity directly relevant to maintaining scientific credibility and model validation in a live carbon intelligence platform
- Completed MSc in Data Analytics with focus on quantitative modelling, statistical analysis and data-driven decision-making; thesis work involved agricultural datasets and sustainability metrics
- Demonstrated proficiency in Linux, shell scripting and automation; comfortable working in technical environments and with version control (Git, CI/CD pipelines) — foundation for collaborative software development with the VSAG team
