PROJECTS

Enterprise Data Pipeline Automation (HCL Technologies)

- Engineered a Python-based ETL pipeline to ingest and transform data from legacy ERP systems into a central data warehouse, processing approximately 150 GB of data weekly.
- Developed automated data validation checks within the pipeline using pandas, reducing data anomaly detection time by 30% and improving reporting accuracy.
- Integrated the pipeline with Jenkins for automated testing and deployment to AWS EC2 instances, ensuring reliable data flow for downstream analytics.

Internal ML Feature Store Development (HCL Technologies)

- Built a Python microservice using FastAPI to serve curated features for machine learning model training, handling approximately 500 requests per second during peak usage.
- Designed the data model and implemented CRUD operations against a PostgreSQL backend to manage feature definitions and metadata for an internal ML platform.
- Wrote unit tests with pytest, achieving over 90% code coverage for the feature retrieval and management APIs.
